Chimo!

Mother Nature's Tear is another climate change art from DW Carving / DW Studio. This is a combination of art disciplines such as woodcarving, Pyrography art, epoxy art and painting. Combined to create very cool wall art.

Mother Nature is one of our most revered and talked about creations. She represents everything good and bad about our world. Just the idea that Mother Nature is shedding a tear for our planet in the form of a blue rose; represents her love for everything nature. Meaning that we need to protect our climate. Moreover, we need to protect our home or world for future generations.

This is a true one-of-a-kind wall art with a carved blue rose surrounded by bent Canadian Oak in the shape of a tear.
