Our Future plans for this design

Outdoor Plan

The objective is to enhance the stature of the sculpture, expanding it to a height ranging from 6 to 8 feet, while simultaneously ensuring its resilience to withstand the harsh Canadian winters. This plan entails meticulous considerations of materials, construction techniques, and protective measures. By carefully selecting durable materials, and employing techniques that reinforce structural integrity, the sculpture can withstand the freezing temperatures, heavy snowfall, and icy conditions that characterize Canadian winters. Additionally, implementing protective coatings or sealants can further enhance its ability to endure the elements. Through this plan, the sculpture will not only achieve an impressive size but also become a lasting testament to artistry and endurance in the face of nature's challenges.

Indoor Plan

The objective is to create a unique sculpture, expanding our current design it to a height ranging from 4 to 6 feet, while simultaneously ensuring its original colour is closely recreated and to ensure it is designed with light weight materials. Through this plan, the sculpture will not only achieve an impressive size but also become a lasting testament to artistry and endurance in the face of nature's challenges.

We only use renewable material to create our artwork, keeping in-mind art is magical to view and hold. But our home Earth is just as magical and needs just as much attention.
